

Please attach this form to items forwarded as Legal Deposit

Legal Deposit lodgement

Are you a Tasmanian publisher? If so, you are required to give Libraries Tasmania a copy of your publication (Libraries Act 1984 s22). You may also need to give a copy to the National Library of Australia <https://www.nla.gov.au/legal-deposit>. Similar legislation applies in all Australian States and Territories, and is generally referred to as 'legal deposit'.

The Tasmanian Libraries Act covers books, e-books, websites, newspapers and magazines, maps, sheet music, sound and video recordings, and anything else that reproduces words, sounds or images. An item is published if copies of it are sold or otherwise distributed to the public.

The deposited copy must be the best copy published. For example, if a book is published in both hard cover and paperback, a copy of the hard cover version must be deposited.

If a work is published in both electronic and paper form, only the electronic version is required to be deposited unless the paper version is different in layout or content.

We keep these 'legal deposit' copies permanently, so future generations have access to them. We buy additional copies for current reference and lending collections as required.

Date of deposit

Deposit received at [Libraries Tasmania location]

Staff member

Deposited by

Name

For (organisation name if applicable)

Address

.....

Phone Email

Signature of Depositor

Publication details

Title

Author

Publisher Date published

Retail price

Where can copies be purchased?

Please attach this form to items forwarded as Legal Deposit

How to send us your publication

Please deliver physical publications in person to any branch of Libraries Tasmania, or post with this completed form to

Legal Deposit Officer
Libraries Tasmania
91 Murray Street
Hobart, TAS 7000

Want a receipt for deposit?

If delivering your publication in person, please ask library staff for a copy of this form for your records. The Legal Deposit team will also send you a formal letter of acknowledgement when they have received your publication.

Electronic publications

Please deposit electronic publications through the National edeposit (NED) portal <https://ned.gov.au/portal/>.

More information

Contact the Libraries Tasmania Legal Deposit team
Phone 03 6165 5576
Email legaldeposit@education.tas.gov.au